

SUMNER BILLINGSLEY

Partner

Sumner Billingsley is a Partner at Billingsley Company in Dallas, Texas. Sumner oversees the company's 8,657 units in the Multifamily portfolio, building 1,500 additional units per year, with in place zoning for 25,000 more units. Her responsibilities include portfolio strategy, construction, design, management and marketing. In addition, she is also responsible for overseeing the company's retail development, marketing and leasing.

Sumner began her real estate career working in development and acquisitions at Trammel Crow Company in Los Angeles, where she worked she was active in the entitlement, design and development of high profile class A assets throughout Greater Los Angeles. Following her time at Trammell Crow Company in Los Angeles, she joined CBRE in New York, before finally joining Billingsley Company in 2014.

Sumner earned her bachelor's degree from University of Southern California and her Masters in Real Estate Development from Columbia University. Sumner is on the Council on Foreign Relations and The National Geographic Hubbard Council. She also serves on the Southern Methodist University Tate Lecture Series Board of Directors, The Urban Land Institute's Mixed-Use Council and The North Texas Food Bank's Young Professionals Board and is actively engaged with The Real Estate Council (TREC) and is a member of the Associate Leadership Council (ALC) Class in 2016.

Sumner has traveled extensively through Asia, Middle East, Europe, South America, Africa, Australia and Papua New Guinea.